Supervisor Lesko, Councilwoman Bonner and Town Board Honor Jones Soda Label Contest Winners from Shoreham-Wading River High School

posted on 12/15/2010 3:32:55 PM

Farmingville, NY - At the December 7 Town Board meeting, Supervisor Mark Lesko, Councilwoman Jane Bonner and her colleagues on the Town Board honored students from Shoreham Wading River High School for winning the Jones Soda Label contest. The students designed labels for the popular brand as part of a photography class assignment. A Jones Soda spokesperson said that the company receives thousands of entries each year and 30 winners are selected each month to have their designs appear on the label

"I congratulate these very talented students for the winning such a prestigious contest," said Supervisor Lesko. "Having their artwork appear on the label of a well known national product is very exciting and they should all be proud of their achievement."

Councilwoman Jane Bonner, who represents District 2, where Shoreham-Wading River High School is located said, "It's great to see our young, local artists get recognized for their hard work and creativity. Winning this contest is a wonderful opportunity and opens the door wider for them as they pursue a career in the arts."

Pictured left to right are Deputy Supervisor / Councilwoman Kathleen Walsh, Councilman Steve Fiore-Rosenfeld, Shoreham-Wading River High School Art Teacher Jason Andria, Councilwoman Jane Bonner, contest winners Samantha Merzbacher, Lindsey Malone and Audrey Ricca, Supervisor Mark Lesko, Councilwoman Connie Kepert, Councilman Tim Mazzei and Councilman Dan Panico. Not pictured are student winners Brianna Coffaro and Taylor Hugelmeyer.