Berkshire Drive, which runs through both Selden and Farmingville, during and after the Brookhaven Highway Department’s paving project.

Farmingville, NY – The Brookhaven Highway Department has provided long term relief for motorists and residents living in the hamlets of Selden and Farmingville by completing a major paving project consisting of sixteen roadways. The streets in the project included: Berkshire Drive, Clearview Avenue, Crestwood Avenue, Dogwood Avenue, Foxhill Place, Greentree Avenue, Hickory Avenue, Highview Avenue, Lidge Drive, Pinecrest Place, Ridgewood Avenue, Roosevelt Avenue, Sycamore Avenue, Tulip Avenue, Walnut Avenue and Willow Avenue. Fifteen of the roads in the project required full depth reclamation, which involved complete removal and replacement of the roadways.

"With this project we were able to address several neighborhood roadways in two separate hamlets," said Highway Superintendent Daniel P. Losquadro. "Included in our scope of work was Berkshire Drive, which serves as a major connecting point for residents living between Granny Road in Farmingville and Ridgewood Avenue in Selden."

"The community will certainly benefit from the ongoing efforts of our Highway Department and Superintendent Losquadro," Councilman LaValle stated. "The newly paved roads not only improve the quality of life for our residents, but create a safer environment to travel."
