September 19, 2012

Local organizations provide information, care to veterans.

Pictured (from left to right) are VFW member Sid Lynn, Acting Supervisor/Councilwoman Kathleen Walsh, and VFW Post 400 Commander Charlie Trabold.

Farmingville, NY - On September 19th, The Town of Brookhaven's Division of Veteran's Services held a Veterans Affairs outreach event at Rose Caracappa Center in Mount Sinai. The event featured numerous local organizations including the Suffolk County Veterans Services Agency, Long Island State Veterans Home, United Veterans Health Alliance, and the Suffolk County United Veterans, among others. Veterans in attendance were provided with information regarding heath programs and benefits available to them. A nurse practitioner was on hand to provide free medical examinations.

Acting Supervisor/Councilwoman Kathleen Walsh said, "The veterans outreach event was another tremendous success for the Town's Division of Veteran's Services. There are so many valuable programs and benefits available to those brave men and women who have served this great nation overseas. The least we can do is provide our service members with the care and information that they deserve after serving our nation so proudly."

Division of Public Information * Office of the Supervisor
One Independence Hill • Farmingville • NY 11738 • Phone (631) 451-6595 • Fax (631) 451-6258