How to research the deeper roots of your Italian (or other) heritage

Farmingville, NY - At a recent event held at the Jefferson's Ferry Continuing Life Care Senior Community in South Setauket, Councilman Steve Fiore-Rosenfeld gave a presentation entitled, "How to Research Your Deeper Italian Roots of Your Family Tree." The Councilman, whose mother is Italian-American, used a power point to relate his own Italian heritage and discussed the different methods that one can use to discover their own family's history.

"The more we learn about our past, the better we understand ourselves today," said Councilman Fiore-Rosenfeld, "I've always had a keen interest in history, and especially my family genealogy and I thank the folks at Jefferson's Ferry for inviting me to share what I've discovered with them."

Hal Atkins, President of Jefferson's Ferry Family History Club said "As Chair, I had a lot of good comments from residents after the presentation. Thanks very much!"

Mike Rabasca, one of Jefferson's Ferry senior residents' said, "Thank you very much for this information. We enjoyed your presentation very much." Another resident, Ken Polis said, "Many thanks!"
