Farmingville, NY - "It was a pleasure to spend my morning with the Bretton Woods Senior Club. They had a lot of excellent questions and best of all they were a fun group!" exclaimed Councilwoman Kepert. Councilwoman Kepert was the guest speaker at the Bretton Woods Senior Club monthly meeting.

Councilwoman Kepert discussed how the redistricting impacted her council district; she lost a large portion of Farmingville to District 3, but picked up two election districts in Coram. With the additional election districts in Coram, the historic Davis House is now located in Council District 4. Councilwoman Kepert, a former history teacher, discussed the historic significance of the Davis House which was Brookhaven's first town hall and hosted meetings once a year.

Ms. Kepert also announced the upcoming David Overton multi-use path that will be completed in the coming months. The Councilwoman stated that the path will be a great place to ride a bike or take a nature walk.

The Councilwoman was happy to inform the Senior Club about the completion of a replica of the historic Mott House. "It's a great little house that will be used by community groups like the Gordon Heights Chamber of Commerce, who will host educational forums and community events there," stated Councilwoman Kepert.

The Councilwoman went on to discuss the upcoming Wincoram mixed-use project which will be located at the old UA Theater. "We have been working closely with the developer on this plan to ensure that it is an attractive project that Coram residents can take pride in," stated Connie Kepert.

A senior asked about the lack of character that many hamlets located in the center of Brookhaven suffer from and stated that he would like to see more communities like Patchogue and Port Jefferson. The Councilwoman welcomed that comment and discussed the type of sprawl development which occurred after the advent of the automobile. Ms. Kepert also discussed the Middle Country Road Land Use Plan, and its attempt to create centers and limit sprawl. "The Middle Country Road Land Use Plan is currently moving forward through Phase III rezonings. These rezonings will help to create distinct hamlet centers and transitional zones along Middle Country Road. These rezonings will encourage the development of compact, pedestrian-friendly communities," stated Councilwoman Kepert.

"I sincerely thank the Bretton Woods Senior Club for inviting me to their meeting it was a lively and fun meeting and I looked forward to returning," stated Ms. Kepert.
