STONY BROOK ROAD PAVING COMPLETED

Farmingville, NY - The Brookhaven Highway Department has accomplished its goal of completing a major paving project on Stony Brook Road in Stony Brook before fall semester classes began. This road is heavily traveled and serves as major artery to the thousands of students and employees who travel to Stony Brook University on a regular basis. The project extended from Route 25A to University Heights Drive.

"I realize how important this roadway is not only to the residents of this community, but also to one of the top economic and educational institutions that helps to fuel Long Island," Superintendent Dan Losquadro said. "This is yet another high priority roadway that can now be removed from our list. I would like to thank everyone who worked so diligently to ensure this project was completed in a timely manner."

"The Town of Brookhaven Highway Department did an excellent job with the paving of Stony Brook Road," said Stony Brook University President Samuel L. Stanley Jr., M.D. "We were gratified to learn that the Town considered this job a priority for the community, and that our students and employees can drive their cars and ride their bicycles along the smooth new surface that leads to one of our entries onto Main Campus and to our Research and Development Park."
