Farmingville, NY - Friends, family and community leaders gathered at the corner of Granny Road and Phineas Street yesterday afternoon to remember and honor the life of Terrence D. Dean. Councilwoman Connie Kepert greeted the crowd on the corner by bringing attention to the life of service Terrence lived, "Terrence took a courageous path which was evident in the career and volunteer service he chose. As a police officer and a fireman for the Gordon Heights Fire Department, his purpose was to serve and help people. Let this street sign remind us always of his good works."

Present at the event were Terrence's parents, Avery and Beverly Dean. While speaking to the group Ms. Dean asked that those who miss and loved Terrence honor his life by helping others.

Legislator Calarco stated, "It was an honor to be a part of a ceremony for a man who gave so selflessly to his community and his family. Naming a street after Terrence is a small token of the gratitude we all feel for the life he led."
