On Monday, December 16, Councilwoman Connie Kepert met at Town Hall with Webelos Troop 625 from Middle Island. The troop is required to meet with an elected official in their community as part of their efforts to earn their civics badge. The Webelos met with the Councilwoman in the Town Council Conference Room to learn about what the Brookhaven Town Board does and the Councilwoman's many efforts in the community. The troop was then given a tour of Town Hall and a glimpse into how town government works.

"As a former teacher, I recognize the importance of educating youngsters about how their government works, and how important town government is to the quality of life within Brookhaven communities," stated Councilwoman Kepert.
