Farmingville, NY - The Brookhaven Highway Department recently completed one of its last projects of the season by repaving and restriping North Coleman Road in Centereach. This major artery stretches from New York State Route 25 to Hawkins Road, covering a distance of more than one mile. Both North Coleman Road Elementary School and Jericho Elementary School are located directly off this roadway.

"This was a very significant project due to the volume of traffic generated from Route 25 and the school buses that regularly travel this roadway," Brookhaven Highway Superintendent Daniel P. Losquadro said. "It is gratifying to know children traveling to and from school, along with the many motorists who frequent this roadway on a daily basis will benefit from the improvements."

"The project was completed in a timely fashion and crews were courteous and professional," said Glen Rogers, Principal at Jericho Elementary School.
