Farmingville, NY - South Country Community Leadership Network (SCCLN), a newly formed group of local organizations dedicated to improving the quality of life for all residents of the South Country community, is organizing a FREE Spring front yard clean up event. Homeowners interested in participating can contact the SCCLN and, if chosen, will work alongside volunteer crew members to help beautify their homes. Volunteer assistance includes aid in removal of leaves and debris, landscaping, and plantings. See attached flyer for additional information. "South Country residents have a great opportunity to beautify their homes and their neighborhood," said Legislator Rob Calarco. "It is wonderful to see the community and local businesses pull together to extend this offer to the South Country community."
"The South Country Community Leadership Network is working hard to improve all aspects of our community, and this is one unique way it is helping to beautify the neighborhood," stated Suffolk County Legislator Kate Browning. "So many residents take pride in their property, but may need some assistance because of financial hardship or physical disabilities. I urge them to take advantage of this wonderful opportunity, so that we can all work together to make the South Country area a better place to live."

"This initiative spearheaded by the South Country Community Leadership Network is a great opportunity for homeowners to work to improve their front yards, and, in doing so, to improve entire neighborhoods throughout the South Country area," said Councilwoman Kepert.
