Farmingville, NY - On Wednesday, September 24, Councilwoman Connie Kepert (second from right) joined with students from Bellport High School at Squassux Landing in Brookhaven hamlet for "A Day in the Life of the Carmans River." The students collected useful scientific data which helps them develop an appreciation of Long Island's River and estuary ecosystems.

"It is always wonderful to see youngsters who are engaged and excited about learning, particularly concerning the protection of a valuable natural resource like the Carmans River. Thank you to all who participated," stated Councilwoman Connie Kepert.
