Farmingville, NY - Councilwoman Connie Kepert was the guest speaker at the Coram Civic Association which met at the Coram Fire Department. The Councilwoman updated civic members a number of projects including the redevelopment of the old Coram UA Theatre. The project, known as Wincoram Commons, is a mixed-use development that will be built on a 17.28 acres site and will include 176, one and two bedroom units, over 13,000 square feet of commercial retail on Route 112 and Main Street, off-site sewage treatment, a playground, community green, and a community center. The project will be a significant investment of funds into the Coram community and will help to reduce taxes in the Longwood School District. The Councilwoman also spoke about her effort to protect residents from carbon monoxide poisoning. The Councilwoman is working with Neal Lewis from Sustainability Network to update the Town Code.

"Thank you to the Coram Civic Association for inviting me to speak at their meeting," said Councilwoman Connie Kepert. "They are a great group of people who work hard to make their community a better place to live."
