Farmingville, NY - On May 17th, Councilwoman Connie Kepert joined the Yaphank Historical Society at their annual yard sale at the historic Hawkins House on Main Street in Yaphank. Many vendors attended on this beautiful day to sell their goods and help raise funds for the Historical Society's great work. The Yaphank Historical Society has been working diligently on restoring the Swezey Avey House, the Hawkins House, and the Mary Louise Booth House, and hopes to begin work on the restoration of the Homan Gerard House soon.

The Councilwoman also stopped by to purchase some flowers and vegetable plants at the Davis Town Meeting House Committee's first annual plant sale in Coram. The Committee is working to raise funds to help restore the interior of the Lester H. Davis House, which served as the home of the Brookhaven Town Government from 1790 to 1885. Work on the exterior of the house was recently completed by the Town Parks Department.
