Farmingville, NY - The Brookhaven Highway Department is working with the Town's Waste Management Department to recycle debris and beautify local communities. Heavy equipment from Waste Management was recently used at the Highway yard in Coram to chip stumps and branches that came from work orders completed by Highway employees.

"By using in-house resources we were able to produce a significant amount of woodchips at no cost to taxpayers," Superintendent Losquadro said. "The woodchips will be used by the Highway Department in various capacities this spring to improve the aesthetic appearance of the Town."

"Interdepartmental cooperation is essential for efficient operation of Town Government," said Councilman Tim Mazzei, Town Board liaison to the Department of Waste Management. "It is my pleasure to work with Superintendent Losquadro and I thank both employees from the Department of Waste Management and the Highway Department for a job well done."

"I want to thank Commissioner Matt Miner and the employees at the Department of Waste Management for working with the Highway Department to the benefit of all Brookhaven residents," Superintendent Losquadro said.
