FARMINGVILLE, NY - Brookhaven Town Supervisor Mark Lesko today announced his "Down Off the Hill" tour, where he will hold public meetings in all six council districts.

"One of the main suggestions of my transition team was to bring Town government down off of Independence Hill to the people," Supervisor Lesko said. "That's why I'm coming down off the hill to communities throughout Brookhaven and conducting a series of Town Hall Meetings. I want to hear from the public to get feedback and learn how we can do a better job meeting the needs of our residents."

Holding community meetings throughout Brookhaven fulfills another one of the pledges Supervisor Lesko made to Brookhaven residents. He has also cut spending, implemented an aggressive Quality of Life Task Force, and built partnerships to create jobs in the town of Brookhaven.

If members of the public have questions or need assistance from the Supervisor, they should call the Town of Brookhaven at 451-TOWN (8696). Residents can talk with Supervisor Lesko at any of the following community meetings in the "Down Off the Hill" tour. These meetings run from 7:00-8:30 PM.
