November 30th, 2009 - Supervisor Mark Lesko and Councilwoman Connie Kepert, announce an important opportunity for public participation in the preparation of Farmingville's Community Visioning Project, "Farmingville Our Vision for Tomorrow." The Farmingville Community Visioning Project is being crafted now and embraces an open, collaborative process involving residents, community leaders, stakeholders and public agencies in order to best prepare for the future of Farmingville. In order to do this in the most effective manner the town hired Sustainable Long Island, and nationally recognized planner Dan Burden to conduct the Visioning.

Time Magazine has identified Burden as one of the six most important civic innovators in the world, in recognition of his efforts to create better places to live, work, and play. Burden has 25 years of experience in developing, promoting, and evaluating sustainable community design. The Visioning Charrette will take place at Town Hall on:
