Farmingville, NY – On October 23, Councilwoman Jane Bonner (right) joined more than 70 Mount Sinai High School students at Cedar Beach to lend a hand during the Environmental Outreach Club’s beach clean-up. In addition to cleaning the beach along Long Island Sound, litter was also picked up along the nature trails and roadsides. The event was coordinated by David Chase (left), Director of the Coastal Steward Marine Education Program.

“We can always count on students to do their part to clean up the environment,” said Councilwoman Bonner. “Cedar Beach is a very special place and it’s important that it is never taken for granted. I thank David Chase for all that he does to preserve the beauty of this beach and others throughout the Town of Brookhaven.”
