Sound Beach, NY - Brookhaven Highway Superintendent Dan Losquadro and Councilwoman Jane Bonner recently met with members of the Sound Beach Civic Association to discuss a paving and beautification project along New York Avenue. The paving project completed on New York Avenue extended from High Hill Drive to Northport Road and is yet another road that has been removed from the Department's high priority list.

"As President of the Sound Beach Civic Association one of my duties is to build relationships for the benefit of the community," Bea Ruberto said. "During my time with the Civic Association I have worked with Superintendent Losquadro and Councilwoman Bonner many times to accomplish shared community goals. The paving of this road is just another one to add to the list."

"The Highway Department's investment in New York Avenue, one of the most traveled roadways in this community, has improved the overall quality of the infrastructure in Sound Beach," Superintendent Losquadro said. "As Highway Superintendent my goal is to not only improve the infrastructure of our communities, but improve the aesthetic appearances as well. I am very fortunate to have Councilwoman Bonner and the Sound Beach Civic Association to work with towards completing such important initiatives."

"My office received a lot of phone calls regarding the condition of this road," Councilwoman Bonner said. "Working with Superintendent Losquadro and residents from the community to address such quality of life issues is extremely gratifying."
