Farmingville, NY - On Sunday, December 2, Councilwoman Jane Bonner and Assemblyman Dan Losquadro (Shoreham) participated in the Long Island Sound Sharks Annual Football Awards Luncheon along with hundreds of residents from the North Shore community. The Sharks Organization encompasses approximately 300 football players and 150 cheerleaders from North Shore communities.

"As an elected official and resident of the North Shore, I am happy to know that we have a local organization as great as the Sharks where everyone supports each other," Brookhaven Town Councilwoman Jane Bonner said. "Congratulations to all the players, coaches, parents and organizers for making this program such a tremendous success."

"The Sharks Program has become a proud tradition on the North Shore," Assemblyman Losquadro said. "The coaches, volunteers and board members do a great job of not only helping the children in our communities develop their athletic abilities, but also teaching them life skills such as teamwork and dedication. I would like to congratulate all the Shark football players and cheerleaders for participating in a program that helps bring so many residents from our communities together."

"This is the organization's fifteenth year and we had a great season," said Charlie Agius, Long Island Sound Sharks President. "We recognize that in order for the Sharks to be successful, it takes everyone working together and I look forward to another great season next year."
