Farmingville, NY – Centereach, NY - Councilwoman Valerie M. Cartright joined Suffolk County Legislator Kara Hahn with the office of Assemblyman Steve Englebright at Jefferson's Ferry on Monday, January 25th for Attorney General Schneiderman's Smart Seniors workshop.

The program was presented by Daniel Hallak of the New York State Attorney General's Office, and included methods to invest wisely, tips to avoid becoming a victim of scams and financial fraud, and how to get help and move forward if you've already been victimized.

"Technology continues to advance quickly and, unfortunately, there are always people looking for new ways to use these advances to take advantage of others," stated Councilwoman Cartright. "The Attorney General's Office Smart Seniors program is a valuable educational program to update our seniors on current fraudulent trends so that they may be prepared to avoid falling victim to such scams."
