Farmingville, NY – The Town of Brookhaven’s volunteer Youth Board recently held two successful flapjack fundraisers at Applebee’s, raising $500 for the Brookhaven Youth Bureau Thanksgiving Food Drive and INTERFACE Toy Drive.

Supervisor Ed Romaine said, “The Youth Board volunteers are doing a great job to improve the lives of young people and their families in Brookhaven Town. Helping our neighbors who need it most is a great way to share in the holiday spirit, now and throughout the year.”

“I would just like to thank everyone who participated in the flapjack fundraiser on November 5,” said Charlotte Pressley, Youth Board Chairwoman. “We also want to send a special thank you to our liaison, Councilman Michael Loguercio, and the many residents who came out to support our cause. This is a fundraiser that with continued support will always be of some benefit to our community residents that are financially challenged during the holiday season.”

Councilman Michael Loguercio said, “Our Youth Board is made up of wonderful people who really care about their neighbors and take action to help in any way they can. The holidays are a tough time for some people, but thanks to our volunteers, the season can be much brighter.”
