Farmingville, NY – Brookhaven Town Highway Superintendent Daniel P. Losquadro and Councilman Michael Loguercio have announced the completion of the paving of Station Road from Woodside Avenue in Yaphank to Horseblock Road in Medford.

This project required $50,000 worth of drainage and concrete improvements along the north and south ends of Station Road. In addition, the pavement was widened on the west side, south of Horseblock, to accommodate future lane changes. The total cost for paving was $165,000.

“Station Road, particularly the section between Sills and Horseblock near D.F. Stone, sees a lot of heavy truck traffic and was in great need of repair,” said Superintendent Losquadro. “When scheduling the milling and paving, we worked with La Margherita Pizzeria to be as minimally-disruptive to its customers as possible. I was happy to complete this project during our 2016 paving season.”

“We are thrilled to have completed another road project, which continues with our promise to keep the roads in our district safe,” said Councilman Loguercio. “A huge thank you to the Highway Superintendent, Dan Losquadro, and the entire staff of the Highway Department, for all that they do for the residents in our communities.”
