Farmingville, NY – On March 5, Councilman Michael Loguercio attended the South Country Schools College and Career Fair at Bellport High School. The event featured over 100 colleges, every branch of military, local government and community organizations. Also in attendance were representatives from the Suffolk County Police Department, South Country Ambulance Company, Brookhaven Fire Department, South Country Library and the Boys & Girls Club of the Bellport Area. Pictured with the Councilman are students from the Bellport High School Culinary program who provided hospitality for all to enjoy.

Councilman Loguercio said, "I had a fantastic time meeting and speaking with so many students with different interests in career paths. This was a great opportunity for them to collect information and discuss future opportunities with a variety of contacts."
