Farmingville, NY - At the Town Board meeting March 8, 2011, Councilman Dan Panico, along with Supervisor Lesko presented, Frank and Gail Capiello a Community Service Recognition Certificate in recognition of their community service making their community a better place.

"They went above and beyond the call of duty and demonstrated a true compassion for their neighbor and repeatedly have shown the same compassion for the neighborhood where they live," said Councilman Dan Panico. "The Capiellos, along with the Osprey Park Civic Association, have had a positive impact on the community and I commend them for their efforts."

"The Capiellos are a true example of what being a good neighbor is all about," said Supervisor Lesko. "They took the time to help, and by doing so, made a real difference in the life of someone in need. I commend their efforts and thank them for their dedicated service to the community."

On a recent Sunday, the Capiellos contacted Councilman Dan Panico to inform him of a neighbor's plight. Councilman Panico was able to contact Adult Protective Services who immediately came to the aid of an elderly woman with medical issues. A special thank you to the Suffolk County Department of Social Services and County Executive Steve Levy who were cooperative and helpful on that Sunday evening and successfully took care of the woman's need.
