Coram, NY - Brookhaven Town Superintendent of Highways Daniel P. Losquadro is happy to announce the Town of Brookhaven Ecology Site Christmas Tree Lighting tradition will continue on November 29. This will be a fun-filled event for the entire family. Visitors can walk through a Christmas wonderland of lighted displays and sip on fresh, hot cocoa while waiting for Santa's arrival by helicopter. Once Santa arrives, there will be sing-a-longs taking place and an exciting countdown to light the tree. Please bring a camera to capture the memories.

"This is the time of year where friends and families come together and special memories are made," Superintendent Losquadro said. "The Ecology Site Christmas Tree Lighting offers something for all ages and is one of very few events where the entire family can attend without having to worry about the price of a ticket. I want to thank the employees at the Ecology Site for working so diligently to make this event something the entire town can look forward to."

"The annual tree lighting at the Holtsville Ecology Site is a wonderful holiday tradition," said Supervisor Ed Romaine. "Join us for this family event as we usher in the holiday season, and check the calendar section of our website for other holiday events Brookhaven Town is hosting throughout the holiday season."

The Ecology Site is located at 249 Buckley Road in Holtsville. Gates for the festivities on November 29 will open at 5 p.m. Please make plans to arrive early, as Santa will be appearing at 6:15 p.m. For further information, please call (631) 758-9664.
