Farmingville, NY - - On May 8, Supervisor Ed Romaine (left) and Councilwoman Connie Kepert (right) attended a Job Fair sponsored by the Town Board, the Town of Brookhaven Industrial Development Agency (IDA), and the Division of Economic Development at the Boys and Girls Club of the Bellport Area. At the event, job hunters from Amneal Pharmaceuticals, Sam's Club, BJ's Wholesale Club, the Suffolk County Police Department, Suffolk County Sheriff's Department, the Air National Guard, Green Remanufacturing Solutions (GRS), and more met with many qualified candidates to discuss a wide range of employment opportunities. Pictured are Supervisor Romaine and Councilwoman Kepert with Sgt. Christopher Gee, who provided information to attendees about a career in the Air National Guard.

"Helping people find good paying jobs is another way that government can work with the private sector," said Supervisor Romaine. "Finding a job is difficult today and this was a great opportunity for job hunters to connect with businesses that are looking to hire. I thank the Boys and Girls Club, our Department of Economic Development and the IDA for organizing the Job Fair."

"Events like this job fair, which connect Brookhaven's talented workers with employers looking to hire, are a critical part of our efforts to improve the economy and get residents back into the workforce," said Councilwoman Connie Kepert. "Bringing together local businesses and our community's skilled workforce will help businesses to grow and positively impact Brookhaven's economic vitality."

On June 26th, the Jobhaven.org Job Fair, sponsored by the Division of Economic Development, Brookhaven Business Advisory Council, Brookhaven Women's Services, and Brookhaven Youth Bureau, will be held at Brookhaven Town Hall to provide additional opportunities for representatives from Brookhaven companies to connect face-to-face with job seekers.
