Farmingville, NY - Marking the second anniversary of Super Storm Sandy, Supervisor Ed Romaine is advising residents to be prepared for extreme weather events before they occur. The storm that hit Long Island on October 29, 2012 caused billions of dollars in damage across the Town as a result of the storm surge, strong winds and flooding along the shore front communities. Many homeowners and businesses are still suffering from the effects of the storm.

"Super Storm Sandy caused unprecedented destruction and hardship throughout Brookhaven Town," said Supervisor Romaine. "On the anniversary of that fateful day two years ago, I urge everyone to be prepared with an emergency plan that will help you get through a storm or hurricane and its aftermath. Taking steps now to protect life and property is the best way to assure that you and your family will stay safe."

To help residents prepare for a hurricane, the Town has posted the Hurricane Survival Guide on our website at www.brookhaven.org. It covers preparations and procedures for virtually every hurricane scenario. The guide also contains hurricane surge maps which are useful in understanding how different areas might be impacted by hurricanes of varying intensities. Also within this guide are important phone numbers, lists and tips for use at home and at work. Residents or business owners can also contact the Brookhaven Town Office of Emergency Management at 631-451-6172 for more information.
