Farmingville, NY – On July 26, Supervisor Ed Romaine (center), Councilman Neil Foley (left) and New York State Senator Tom Croci (right) toured the Blue Point Preserve located on Maple Street in Blue Point. The passive park was constructed by the Town on a 20 acre site that was formerly occupied by a nursery, but had been vacant for many years. The park includes a walking path throughout, benches and a pergola. Recently, Senator Croci secured a $465,000 System for Award Management (SAM) Grant to be used for parks related projects in Council District 5.

Supervisor Romaine said, "The Blue Point Preserve has transformed an abandoned nursery into a beautiful haven that families can now enjoy. I thank Senator Croci for his commitment to the residents of Brookhaven Town."

"Thanks to Senator Croci, we can now get more done in our parks for the people of the 5th Council District," said Councilman Foley. "I appreciate his support and look forward to working closely with him as move forward to with our plans."
